VOLUME LXIV., NUMBER 34.

REDWOOD CITY, SAN MATEO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1924.

UNUSUAL TALENT OFFERED PUBLIC IN LYCEUM COURSE

The Lyceum course under the auspices of the Sequoia Union High School offers a splendid opportunity for the people of this community to enjoy exceptionally fine entertainment at a most reasonable rate.

The high school, represented by a faculty and student body committee, is sponsoring the Lyceum with the sole purpose in mind of giving the people a chance to enjoy good plays, concerts and operas at home in the beautiful Sequoia auditorium. Any money made from the course will be turned back into a Lyceum fund and used to purchase high-class numbers for next year.

The cost of a season ticket for the entire program of five numbers is $2.00 for adults and $1.00 for students. This ticket admits the holder to the evening performance by the Tony Sarg Marionettes, to "Lombra," the opera, to "The Cindrella Man," the play, to the concert by the Metropolitan Quartet, and to the high school number. The afternoon performance by the Marionettes, "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," intended primarily for children, must be paid for extra.

The dates for the numbers are as follows:

Tony Sarg's Marionettes.....Dec. 2
"Lombra" opera.....Dec. 15
"The Cindrella Man" play.....Jan. 18
Metropolitan Quartet concert Feb. 3
High School Number.....undecided

Without doubt, every one of the above numbers will be most entertaining and worth while. Tony Sarg is known the world over for his marionette shows and the things he makes make the little carved puppets do are most amazing.

To add to the shows, there are a variety of musical accompaniments. "Lombra," according to Mr. Carrington, head of the music department of the high school, is one of the most tuneful of the operas of Flotow, who perhaps is best known for his "Martha." "The Cindrella Man," a four-act comedy, is highly recommended by the New York critics who witnessed the play. The Metropolitan Quartet, who present the fourth number add to the attractiveness of this program by a number of dramatic sketches. The high school number will be made up of a one-act play and music, directed by Miss Catherine J. Boyle and Mr. Carrington, respectively.

Anyone who has not received an application blank for tickets and who desire to attend the programs, should get in touch with Mr. Argo at the high school. The good seats are being assigned as the applications come in, so it behooves everyone to hurry.

WOMAN CHARGES CRUELTY IN SUIT FOR DIVORCE

In a suit filed in the court here last Saturday, Mrs. Emma Florio of this city charges her husband with extreme cruelty. The couple were married here in 1921, according to the complaint, and were separated in October of this year. The plaintiff asks a divorce and the right to resume her maiden name of Mangini. She is represented by Attorney James T. O'Keefe of this city.

A large delegation of the officers and members of Redwood City Lodge No. 168 F. and A. M. went to San Francisco last night to confer the third degree for a San Francisco lodge. Chas. H. Merrill, Worshipful Master of Redwood City Lodge, and his officers have gained such proficiency in their work that their services have been sought by a number of neighboring lodges.

Falsifying Claim Results in Arrest

Filing of a claim for insurance for $1500 when his house on Selby lane burned some time ago resulted in the arrest this week of James H. Powell, formerly a laborer at the cement plant here.

The arrest of Powell followed a state wide search which has been in progress for the past two months, and was effected by Sheriff T. C. McGovern and Inspector Dallas of the State Arson Board. The arrest was made at the instigation of the insurance company which Lambert and Walter of this city are agents, in which Powell had his property insured.

Following the filing of the claim for $1500 investigation was begun and developed the fact that valuable furniture which Powell claimed was burned in the fire of his house, was purchased from local second-hand stores and was practically without value. Investigation is now being conducted to determine whether the fire was of incendiary origin.

When first faced with the facts, Powell denied the accusations but later admitted that he had falsified in his insurance claim.

During his stay in Redwood City, Powell posed as the president of the California Tire Patch Company, a concern about which nothing can be learned, and which is thought to be without existence.

POITUNE TELLER CHARGED WITH PICK-POCKETING

Charged with taking five dollars out of the pocket of George Douglas while in the course of telling his fortune, a Gypsy fortune teller, located on Broadway, was yesterday arrested and taken to the court of Judge Griffin. The Gypsy played not guilty to the charge and the hearing on the matter was set for this morning at 10 o'clock. In absence of bail, which was set at $50, the woman was placed in the care of Mrs. Granger, matron of the jail.

The place of business has been closed by the police.

BOARD PETITIONED FOR FURTHER STREET WORK

A petition signed by a number of residents of the north eastern section of the town was received by the board of trustees of Redwood City at its regular meeting last Monday evening. The street work called for includes the paving of portions of Allerton, Standish, Eaton, Sampson, and Warren streets. The names of more than a dozen of the residents of that section were affixed to the petition.

EDUCATION WEEK OBSERVED BY LOCAL KIWANIS CLUB

Education Week, a week nationally devoted to the consideration of educational problems, was observed by the local Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday. Principal A. E. Monteith, city superintendent of schools of Redwood City, was the chairman of the meeting. Professor John Gill of the Sequoia Union High School was the chief speaker. In his address Prof. Gill spoke of the need of co-operation between the parents of the children and the school.

The Kiwanians from Redwood City who were present at the convention of the Kiwanis Clubs held at Santa Barbara last week, gave their impressions of the convention. Those who attended were President Elmore B. Hinman, District Trustee Clarence Dossie, Secretary Clarence Argo and Harry Groom.

Frank Griffin was a guest of the club and addressed the members relative to the forthcoming game between San Jose and Sequoia which was played last night to determine the championship of the league.

SEQUOIA'S OBJECTIVE

By C. L. Anderson

The purposes of education change continually. Even among educators this tendency of change of objectives is not always understood. The old objective was merely to impart information which the home could not give. Later the objective seemed to shift to vocational or economic lines. At present another change is in the making. At the Sequoia Union High School the aim of all lines of activity is the development of good citizens.

Effective teaching of citizenship is not as simple a matter as it may first appear to be. Long ago educators recognized that knowledge of good conduct, while very important, is in no wise sufficient to insure such conduct. Nor is knowledge of good citizenship sufficient to insure practice. It is important to know our government, to know the foundations of our social structure and the principles of sound economics. Such studies occupy a prominent place in the course of study. Classes in history, civil government, social problems, commercial and economic geography and kindred subjects are offered.

In addition, to this, every opportunity to put these principles into practice is given. We do not claim nor do we believe that all the difficulties have been overcome. But it is the aim of the school to give the students experience in self government and restraint. Students organizations, clubs, societies and organized activities are fostered.

Incentives for good conduct are not lacking. Beautiful surroundings, fine buildings, the best of equipment all tend to create an atmosphere, favorable to good conduct and provide a desire for good citizenship. The "Sequoia Objective" is good citizenship.

The young couple will make their home in San Francisco upon their return from a honeymoon on which they left following their marriage.

REV. OWEN AND WIFE GIVEN RECEPTION

The members and friends of the local Methodist church met last night following the regular quarterly business meeting of the church and gave a reception to Rev. and Mrs. Harry Owen of the church. Rev. Owen has been pastor of the church for over a year, but owing to the fact that Mrs. Owen has only recently come from England, the reception was postponed awaiting her arrival. The reception last evening was also in honor of Dr. Carl Warner, the new district superintendent of this district, and his wife and daughter who were present. Dr. Warner succeeds Dr. White who was superintendent of this district for a number of years.

BANK NEEDS MORE ROOM

Business must be good when the bank has to be enlarged, but that was the case in Redwood City this week. The First National Bank, finding its quarters too cramped has had its office space considerably extended by changing the interior arrangement of the bank. Mechanics have been busy all this week moving the bank counters, and duplicating the ornamental woodwork of the old counters on the new ones, so that one cannot tell where the old leaves off and the new begins. The new arrangement throws the space formerly occupied by a lobby on the west side into the bank office and enlarges the available space about one half.

WASHINGTON STREET BEING IMPROVED

Washington street, which for some time past has been in worse condition than any other street in the center of town, is now being improved under private contract by the property owners along the street. The road work consists of cement gutters and all macadam surface along the two blocks between Broadway and Broadway street. The contract for the street work was let to Ed Dearborn of this city and R. E. Johnson of San Carlos is doing the cement work.

Enos Ralston, prominent coast-side rancher, was a visitor in Redwood City Thursday.

LARGE INDUSTRIAL PROPERTY SOLD

The Lynch property, consisting of 200 acres of land near town, was sold last week to Mr. O'Dea, the Los Angeles capitalist, who has been operating in this locality for several years past. He owns land in the Dumbarton tract and at Menlo Park and some time ago sold a subdivision near town. Mr. O'Dea plans to sell his new purchase for industrial sites. The property was originally a part of the Myles D. Sweeney domain and was purchased by the late M. Lynch a number of years ago and was planted to sweet peas. The varied colored blooms made the ranch the show place of the peninsula, people coming from far and near to see the unusual sight and enjoy the air-laden fragrance of the beautiful flowers. During the war the property was rented as an aviation field by the late J. Christopherson, who maintained a school there, turning out a number of flyers who afterwards won renown in the war in Europe. He lost his life on the field one day when he made a flight in a new airplane. His death did not close the school. Others managed it with success, graduating some noted flyers. At one time the government looked over the property with a view of purchasing it for a national aviation field but the negotiations fell through. Lately San Francisco had its eye on the land, intending to use it for an auxiliary to the Crossy field in San Francisco, but that sale also failed of consummation. Mark McCann negotiated the recent sale.

It was rumored yesterday that a Palo Alto syndicate had purchased the adjoining lands, the well-known Sweeney ranch. The rumor could not be confirmed last evening.

CLARENCE BRUNN MAKES NEW PLAY FEATURING VALLE

Wadsworth Camp's Prize Tale Adapted

The difference between "house and home" as applied to the dwelling place for a man or a woman is a great deal—mostly in the heart of the woman.

That difference is one of the important human interest angles in the dramatic story of "The Signal Tower," a Universal-Jewel special, starring Virginia Valle under the direction of Clarence L. Brown, which will be shown at the Sequoia Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, November 24 and 25th.

"The Signal Tower" tells of the love of a woman for her home and the apparent inability of her husband to grasp the significance of her various whims in regard to "home." It is laid in the atmosphere of a lonely railroad junction.

Incidentally there is quite a bit of meaning in that title, "The Signal Tower," for there undoubtedly is a "signal tower" in any domestic situation. Sometimes the signals are disregarded, sometimes not, depending on the couple's understanding.

Wadsworth Camp, widely known short story writer, wrote the original of the screen play. His story won a prize, as well as the acclaim of being one of the most convincing works of fiction ever written of persons in the more common walks of life.

Virtually all of the screen version was made along the right-of-way of a railroad running through forest covered mountains. Fidelity to technical detail was obtained largely through the advice and assistance of railroad officials. The exceptionally strong supporting cast includes Wallace Beery and Rock Liffe Fellows.

REDWOOD CITY MAN HONORED BY SCOTS

Charles McCracken of this city, Toparch of San Mateo Pyramid of Scots, was honored at the convention of the Supreme Pyramid which has just been held at Redding. By being appointed deputy Paraphor. The San Mateo Pyramid, to which a large number of Redwood City Masons belong, was well represented at the meeting, according to Harry Potts of this city, who is a scribe of the pyramid.

The San Mateo Pyramid band took second place, being excelled only by Sacramento. During their stay at Redding, the delegates were given a royal welcome by their brothers of Redding. A feature of the entertainment provided by the Redding Scots was a trip to Mt. Shasta and a visit to the temple of the oldest of California lodges.

WATER COMPANY SEEKS DISSOLUTION

Dissolution of the Redwood City Water Company is requested in a petition filed with the county clerk this week. The company was formed in 1923 and supplied the city of Redwood City with water until the purchase of the wells by the town last year. The company now has no further reason for existence. The petition is signed by the board of directors, A. D. Walsh, J. L. Ross, H. Schaberg and George C. Ross.

Tom Stafford Crushed by Truck

Crushed between a heavy gravel truck and the loading bin of the A. Hesse Company Wednesday afternoon, Tom Stafford, truck driver for Hesse, nearly lost his life. Stafford was standing in the rear of one of the trucks which was waiting to be loaded. The driver of the truck, not seeing anyone behind him, backed his truck and crushed his co-worker into the heavy timbering of the bin before his cries told of the accident. Stafford did not lose consciousness and was rushed to the office of Dr. Ross, where he was given first aid treatment. The injured man was immediately removed to the Mills Memorial hospital in San Mateo, where he was given an examination. So far as can be determined at this time, the injuries sustained appear to be a crushed arm, a broken rib and probable internal injuries.

Mrs. Stafford has just returned from the same hospital, where she underwent an operation. The news of her husband's injuries was a severe shock to her in her weakened condition, but she is reported to be improving.

SKYLINE TO BE SIGNED

Yellow diamond road signs, warning motorists to drive carefully, are to be erected by the California State Automobile Association on the Skyline boulevard, according to an announcement made this week by James W. Johnson, chief engineer of the association.

This announcement followed an inspection of the Skyline boulevard last week by Johnson, Captain Henry Gleason, and D. V. Nicholson, assistant secretary of the automobile association.

Although the Skyline boulevard is not considered dangerous, in itself, six deaths have occurred as the result of accidents resulting from careless driving on the boulevard, since it was thrown open to travel. Johnson said that in the interests of public safety the automobile association had decided to erect a number of signs warning motorists to proceed carefully.

Due to the fact that the roadbed on the Skyline boulevard is unusually wide and that the curves are wide and sweeping, many motorists have apparently taken this condition as a license for excessive speed, according to Johnson. The result has been that when brakes are applied suddenly at a high speed cars have skidded on the gravel surface and fatal accidents have resulted.

Following an investigation into deaths occurring on the boulevard, a coroner's jury in San Francisco recently recommended that warning signs, carrying the words, "Drive Carefully" be erected along the route.

"For drivers exercising ordinary care," said Johnson, "the Skyline boulevard should be one of the safest roads of its type in the state, and if motorists will keep their cars within the legal limit of speed they should not encounter any difficulty."

FIRE DAMAGES SAN CARLOS GAS STATION; CAR BURNS

Fire, supposedly started by gasoline dripping on the hot exhaust of a car, started a fire Wednesday evening at the Y-Service Station at San Carlos which nearly resulted in the destruction of the station. The car, which was the property of Edward Sneeberger, was burned and scorched before A. Terwilliger, in charge, could extinguish the flames. The chief damage done was to the car, which is said to be valued at $2,500. Both car and oil station were covered by insurance.

Miss Lu Beeger returned from Los Angeles Wednesday morning after a pleasant visit with friends and relatives in southern California.

REDWOOD CITY CHRYSAANTHEMUMS SENT TO LOUISIANA

When New Orleans held its great flower show on the 31st of last month word was sent to Redwood City that great numbers of chrysanthemums would be needed and immediately 1800 cars of the gorgeous blooms were shipped across the continent. This is the story appearing in the current issue of the American Railway Express Company's house organ.

Redwood City is the center of the chrysanthemum trade of the coast, and the blooms produced by the Japanese nurseries here are known for their size and perfection throughout the country. According to the Japanese who specialize in the culture of the giant flowers, Redwood City and its vicinity is the only section of the bay region exactly suited to the growing of the large type of chrysanthemum, which is raised to such perfection in Japan. The flowers grown here are sought after by florists in all parts of the state, and a large commerce is maintained with Los Angeles, where boxes of the blooms are shipped daily, as well as San Francisco.

It is only recently that this extended trade has been attempted. Formerly it was thought that only near markets could be supplied from here. Improved methods of packing, however, and the good service given by the express company, have resulted in the blooms being received in the markets of the southern and eastern states in as good condition as when they left here.

BRIDGE PROGRAM FURTHERED BY PERMIT BEING GRANTED

That construction work on the Dumbarton bridge will be commenced immediately is the forecast this week following the granting of another franchise to John Lytle Harrington, noted bridge engineer, who is in charge of the project. The application for another franchise was made at the instigation of eastern bondholders who are financing the matter.

The bridge is now financed chiefly by eastern capital, according to an announcement made by Harrington. When Harrington appeared before the supervisors to ask for the new permit he was congratulated by the members of the board upon the encouraging reports which are current concerning the bridge.

The starting of actual operations on the bridge across the bay will end a long fight to secure the necessary capital. The bridge was proposed fifty years ago and was to have been built at that time. The project fell through, however, only to be revived many years later. The present activities date back about three years.

TRAFFIC OFFICERS EXAMINE AUTOMOBILE HEAD LIGHTS

Over one hundred motorists were stopped at Five Points Saturday night by Traffic Officers James Logan and James Dalziel for having lights not in conformity with the law. Most of these had their lights repaired and reported to Judge Griffin here this week. The present law provides that motorists arrested for illegal lights must have the lights adjusted and then in the slip given them by the traffic officers to the judge. No fines are imposed if the lights are properly adjusted.

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE THIS WEEK BY THE OWNERS OF THE ENTERPRISE BAKERY ON BROADWAY OF THE PURCHASE BY THEM OF A LOT IN THE PERRY SUBDIVISION ON BROADWAY ON WHICH THEY WILL BEGIN IMMEDIATELY THE CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW BUILDING. THE NEW STRUCTURE WILL HOUSE THE BAKING DEPARTMENT OF THE CONCERN AND WILL CONTAIN THE MAIN SALES ROOM. THANKSGIVING

NEXT Thursday is Thanksgiving, the day above all others which should be a time for summing up and taking stock by the average citizen of this country of ours. Thanksgiving is particularly an American day, and what could be more appropriate, for where lives there a people who have more to be thankful for than have we? Our Pilgrim ancestors in their little settlement in Massachusetts, little realized that they were inaugurating a national holiday when they gathered in the little log church to render up their thanks for the blessings of the harvest. But how much of our present prosperity do we owe to the simple custom of these devout Puritans? Thankfulness, like the boomerang of the bushman, goes out into the world only to return in returning it comes laden with more blessings than we had in the first place. So too, ungratefulness, returns to the sender with its curse. Happiness it not the result of the blessings we possess, but only of the blessings for which we are thankful. We cannot prove by any mathematical formula that the bank clearings and the average wage per capita are any higher because of the national time of Thanksgiving. But we believe that they are.

NO MORE PROFITS—NO MORE WARS

THAT a war without profit would not last a day is the general view of the American Legion. Wars are made by those who share in the profits and carried on by those who do not. At least that is the general consensus of opinion among the boys who risked their lives on the battlefields of France. To prevent future wars a universal draft law has been prepared and presented to President Coolidge by the National Commander of the Legion. The new law would provide that in time of war everyone would be drafted, bankers, clothiers, builders and all, exactly as the soldiers were in the past war. All would work on the same basis. Capitalists and directors of industry instead of employing their wits in rolling up huge fortunes and keeping down the income tax at the same time, would be drafted into the government service and put to work at whatever they are best fitted to do. The Legion may not be able to put their program over right now, but eventually the idea of one man fighting and dying that another may profit, will be as extinct as the dodo. Then and only then will there be no more wars.

THE WALL STREET "SCARE" EXPLODED

BIG capital has been fairly stampeded into tax-exempt public securities, to escape industrial taxes. Productive industry found it hard to finance itself, until it took up the small-investor field. Small investors in the past five years have remade the American attitude towards capital by showing that it is simply the saving of their own labor of yesterday invested in new undertakings. Some profess to be frightened because "Wall Street" stocks advanced immediately after the election. Inasmuch as Wall Street is populated by 10,000,000 sober Americans who have bought the nation's industrial securities and are running the nation's business, the advance will be a benefit to many. If these securities were to decline, the small investor would suffer while the holder of tax-exempt securities, with a guaranteed strangle-hold on the nation's revenues, would stand higher than working industrialists. There is small virtue in the tax-exempt securities plan. It does not fairly distribute the obligations of citizenship, and it should be abolished.

A BAD SITUATION

CURRENT news reports from the south indicate a serious crisis developing in the Owens valley over the attempt of Los Angeles to seize the water rights of ranchers. Men who have their entire fortunes in their farms and are entirely dependent upon the natural supplies of water are not going to look with unconcern while a city fifty miles away monopolizes the water supply and makes a desert of their land. This week's reports tell of the massing of a mob of farmers at the floodgates of the aqueduct which they have opened armed with sawed-off shot guns to prevent any one from diverting the water in the pipes of the Los Angeles project. Mob rule, it is true, but justified, every bit of it. These farmers of ours are a long suffering lot and have submitted without a murmur to more burdens than are born by any other class of our people. But as a quiet river may be the more dangerous, so with the farmer who is tried beyond his patience.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY ART GALLERY EXHIBITIONS

The Stanford Art Galleries at Stanford University have opened a group of exhibitions of paintings, illustrations, work, and posters which are the first of a series of exhibitions to be held during the present college year. The present exhibitions are views in Brittany by Henri Riviere, the noted French artist who produces decorative landscape; a group of French posters by noted French artists; a group of watercolors and illustrations from New York studios; and oil paintings by Blanche Wagner of Spain and J. Vennerson Cannon showing Arizona and California scenes. The art galleries are open every day of this month, excepting Thanksgiving Day, between the hours of 10 and 5, no admission being charged.

Everyone interested in viewing collections of art, including handicrafts, is invited to visit the Stanford Art Gallery, where exhibitions from time to time presenting the best art work obtainable for exhibition purposes is shown. The gallery is under the supervision of Pedro J. Lemos, Director of the Museum of Fine Arts at Stanford University.

AIRPLANES FOR HIRE NOW

In London a flying club has been organized and planes are put at the disposal of capable flyers. This is the first club organization in record where the machine itself is for hire, though of course, many American and continental cities have commercial flying routes that compete with railroads and electric lines, but in such cases the company provides the pilot. The hire rate of the new club is one shilling a minute.

San Carlos News And Happenings

The San Carlos Parent-Teacher Association met at Mrs. A. M. Steele's home on Tuesday. It was a "home section" meeting, the first one held by this association. A course of reading was taken up and thoroughly discussed. HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI HAVE SUCCESSFUL PLAY

"Seventeen," the play which was staged last Saturday by the members of the Sequoia Alumni Association, was one of the most successful amateur theatricals ever staged in Redwood City. A great portion of the credit for the success of the play is given by those who took part in the production to the efficient coaching they received from Miss Catherine Boyle of the English department of the high school. Another factor which aided greatly in the success of the performance was the music supplied by the high school orchestra, which under the leadership of Prof. Gaylord, appeared for its first public performance.

The production was well attended and great praise is due to every member of the cast for the manner in which the parts were taken. The play by Booth Tarkington, is filled with comic situations which were brought out in an almost professional manner. It was the general expressed hope that the payers would not let their efforts end with this play, but would plan for others in the future.

Real Lighting Comfort

Right now, when your living room becomes the center of home and social life, give thought to its lighting.

Most living rooms suffer in appearance and comfort from the lighting arrangements. Glare in some spots, black shadows in others, distort the furnishings and hurt the eye. Chairs must be moved to the center of the room, reading, sewing, or card playing is accompanied by a feeling of discomfort.

These are the faults of poor lighting. In the modern living room, the primary lighting arrangements—a ceiling fixture and side wall brackets—are supplemented by the generous use of floor, table, desk, and bridge lamps.

For proper lighting—see your electrical dealer or the

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

The Rev. F. M. Harvey was appointed on Thursday of the past week irremovable rector of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Oakland. Father Harvey succeeds the Rt. Rev. Msgr. E. P. Dempsey, who was installed on Sunday as the rector of the Church of St. Francis de Sales. The new pastor of St. Mary's assumed his duties on Sunday and also assisted at the installation of his predecessor in the neighboring parish.

Father Harvey has been a teacher at St. Patrick's Seminary for the past twenty-seven years. Many of the priests of the Archdiocese and of the Pacific Coast studied under him in their collegiate and theological courses and his ability as a teacher of the literature and of several languages made him one of the most valued professors of the seminary faculty. His classes were invariably recognized as exceptional opportunities for the student in his days of preparation for the sacerdotal ministry. As a Shakespearean scholar and as a preacher he is known throughout the state and his sermons delivered on special occasions have been masterpieces of English and of sacred oratory. His appointment to St. Mary's comes as a well-earned recognition of his years of successful teaching in the great work of training young men for the priesthood.

Father Harvey was born in Boston and studied philosophy and theology in the famous St. Mary's Seminary at Baltimore. He came to Menlo Park before his ordination and for two years was a member of the faculty of St. Patrick's and was ordained there in 1900. He has the distinction of being the first priest ordained at the local seminary. The young levite's first sermon was preached in the Church of the Nativity here. The late Father Brennan was at that time pastor of the church. He stood in the vestibule and as the priest finished his sermon he turned to friends and said "that young man will on day be the ablest pulpit orator in the diocese." His prophecy was realized for Father Harvey is considered one of the most eloquent men in the church in California. The priest who made the statement nearly a quarter of a century ago did not live to see the results of his prophecy. He died only a short time after in far off France. His body now lies in a little cemetery, just outside of the city of Paris.

Father Harvey taught Genetic Psychology in the Philosophical department of the institution. His career as a professor has given him a place among the leading scholars of the country and in the subjects in which he specialized he is an acknowledged authority.

The Home Dairy, M. I. Piers proprietor, has the contract to furnish pure milk to the children of the grammar school of San Jose. A board of medical men at San Francisco and San Jose has passed upon the purity of his milk and have pronounced it among the best in the state. Mr. Piers furnishes 1200 pints daily to the schools. His dairy, near the base hospital, is a model of cleanliness and is considered the best managed of any in the state.

beautiful gardens along the street and the imposing residences make the place attractive and beautiful; just where one would like to live, rest and spend his days amid the flowers and blooms that no where else grow half so fair.

Last Saturday at her home in San Francisco Mrs. Ellen T. Hannigan was called to her reward. She was the mother of Rev. Jerome B. Hannigan, a former pastor of the church of the Nativity here. The deceased was a devout and saintly woman known for her deeds of charity, kindness and devotion to her family and her friends. Besides her family Mrs. Hannigan leaves a host of friends to mourn her loss.

SUPERVISORS PETITIONED FOR DAIRY INSPECTION

The matter of the granting of a permit for the construction of the Dumbarton Bridge was again before the supervisors Monday when John Lyle Harrington, bridge engineer in charge of the project, again appeared before the supervisors to request a permit to build the bridge.

Harrington at present holds a permit for this construction, but to overcome a legal technicality it was found desirable to apply for a new permit. The matter was referred to the district attorney and was adjourned to Wednesday and again to Thursday when it came up for definite action and was granted.

Charles Wooster retired this week on a liberal pension after serving the Stanford interests for fifty-six years. Mr. Wooster was the private coachman of the late Senator Stanford for a great many years beginning his employment at Sacramento when Stanford began to loom as a railroad magnate with Crocker, Huntington and Hopkins, the quartet that built the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific railroads. When Stanford came to Menlo Park in 1875 Wooster came with him and remained as his trusted coachman until the senator passed away. Mr. Wooster continued in the same capacity for Mrs. Stanford. After her death he was employed on the Stanford estate until last week when he was retired on a pension. It was Mr. Stanford's wish that he be kept on the ranch and to be taken care of. Wooster had the senator's confidence and knew many of the secrets held sacred by the railroad magnates. He also has acquaintance with political intrigues of those early California days when senators and congressmen were made over night and when governors would be selected at a night caucus in the Golden Eagle hotel in Sacramento. Mr. Wooster was true to his trust, not divulging even a slight suggestion of his knowledge to any one. He certainly could tell many interesting stories of those bygone days if he chose to. Maybe some day he will tell his reminiscences in a serial article that will command the attention of the whole state.

Mr. Wooster, though well advanced in years, is still hale and hearty bidding fare to live for a long period to enjoy the fruits of his eventful life.

J. H. Sullivan yesterday brought in a water well on his property near the Dumbarton bridge. The well was drilled to a depth of 360 feet, tapping a strata from which 500 gallons a minute is taken. His friends are bantering him for not depriving in an oil well. If there is no rain this season, perhaps the water hole will be just as valuable.

WOODSIDE NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Jackling visited their home here this week after an absence of several weeks in New York.

Mrs. William Roth departed for New York on Wednesday to remain there until the middle of December. She will return to California in time for Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Audiffred and son Jacques were guests at the Shriner's production of Mikado in San Francisco on Monday night.

Miss June Cummins, who opened a musical studio at the house of J. J. Kelly, has been kept in Berkeley for several weeks by the illness of her mother. She has, however, been able to come down on Sundays and thus continue the instruction to her pupils.

The church has received its last coat of paint, the heating arrangements have been altered and altogether presents a much better appearance since its interior and exterior renovation.

The robins have returned with their breasts as red as ever and with such voracious appetites that it is doubtful if there will be any red berries left for Thanksgiving and Christmas decoration.

The demand for Woodside turkeys this year is greater than the supply. This neighborhood usually sends a large number of birds to market, but for some reason many of our turkey raisers refrained from setting their turkey hens last spring. With the insistent demand at the present prices, they are beginning to regret their neglect.

Woodside has never adopted the plan of holding special services on Thanksgiving Day, but a special and appropriate sermon will be preached by Rev. Benjamin St. John on Sunday next.

A large number of our residents attended the football rally at Stanford University on Wednesday night and many are planning to attend the big game at Berkeley on Saturday. Naturally they are adding their prayers to the general petition for fair weather on that day.

The most popular indoor game among the pupils of the local school at the present time is the working of the cross puzzles to be found in many of the daily papers. There is interesting psychology in this for these puzzles present a quite efficient intelligence test and require an application and nimbleness of wit equal to any of the studies required of them in the school-room.

Because of the novelty of the term, and because they masquerade under the title of a game, the pupils attack this form of mental labor with much more zeal than they are willing to devote to any of the studies in the required curriculum.

STAMBAUGH STREET PROPERTY SOLD THIS WEEK

The property on Stambaugh street, formerly occupied by J. J. Hahr and family, was this week sold to A. Koopen, who is connected with the cement works. The sale of the property is reported by Lambert and Walter, as is also the sale of the building owned by the M. & S. Tile and Mantle Co. on the highway, which was purchased by a Palo Alto realty firm.

Miss Bernadette Clark presided at this meeting at which about twelve chairmen of committees were present. It was voted at this time to give $25 towards a scholarship fund for the benefit of high school students. The sum of $35 was voted for the platform being built at the Las Lomitas school house. Plans for the Christmas celebration, and those present examined the library and took out cards. The meeting adjourned and tea was served by the hostess.

SEQUOIA CHAMPS MEET SAN JOSE HI

Sequoia's champ 110 and 120 basket ball teams met corresponding weight teams from the San Jose high school at the local gym last night. These teams from both schools had so far come through the season undefeated and last night's contest decided the championship of the P. A. L.

Coach Griffin has developed some wonderfully fast teams at Sequoia and the aggregations this year are up to his usual standard. The games were played too late for the Times-Gazette to get the scores.

"TESS" HAS CAST OF STELLAR MERIT

New Metro-Goldwyn Special Bonito Sextet of Big Players

It is no vain boast when Marshall Neilan claims to have selected one of the most auspicious casts ever gathered together in one photograph for his production of "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," the Metro-Goldwyn picture to be shown at the Sequoia Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, November 26th and 27th with a matinee Thursday, Thanksgiving Day at 2:30.

All of the players are extremely well known and their ability has been proven countless times. Blanche Sweet and Conrad Nagel play the leading roles of the filmed Thomas Hardy novel. Stuart Holmes, one of the most convincing villains on the screen, plays an important part; George Fawcett, judged by many to be the best character actor working before the camera, Courtenay Foote, Joseph J. Dowling, who is remembered vividly for his marvelous performance in "The Miracle Man," Victory Bateman, Jane Mercer and others portray the familiar Hardy characters to perfection.

"Tess of the D'Urbervilles" is a Louis B. Mayer presentation, and was adapted by Dorothy Farnum.
